The Future of Development is Enterprise-Driven

USAID is catalyzing enduring development outcomes through innovative partnerships and true collaboration.

Private enterprise is the single most powerful force for lifting lives, strengthening communities and accelerating self-reliance.

— USAID ADMINISTRATOR MARK GREEN

Amidst a changing world, USAID has embraced true collaboration, serving as catalysts for innovation and enterprise-driven results.
The world has changed. USAID is transforming its practices and operations in response to new technologies emerging markets, and increased public-private collaboration in order to achieve sustainable development solutions and accelerate countries on their Journey to Self-Reliance.

3 WAYS TO ENGAGE:

Share Expertise and Innovation
Bring innovation, research and development, industry expertise, and entrepreneurial skills for greater development outcomes.

Align Resources and Capabilities
Align resources and action—including supply chain development strengthening the business environment—to address global and local challenges.

Unlock Private Investment
Collaborate to address constraints to a transaction or broader investment that makes greater impact.

Work with Us!

LEARN MORE: https://www.usaid.gov/work-usaid/private-sector-engagement or e-mail globalpartnerships@usaid.gov