I. BACKGROUND

The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) in Senegal is seeking a Young African Leadership Initiative (YALI) Program Manager to support USAID implementation of President Obama’s initiative to develop the next generation of young leaders in Africa. YALI is a long-term effort that is investing in entrepreneurship and leadership development, and strengthening partnerships between the United States and Africa. YALI will support a prestigious network of leaders across critical sectors, cement stronger ties to the United States, and offer follow-on leadership opportunities in Africa, with the goal of strengthening democratic institutions and spurring economic growth.

YALI responds to the expressed needs and requests of young African leaders for practical leadership training and skill-building. The U.S. will identify and invest in young African leaders to provide them with training and experience in three dedicated tracks that are critical for continuing the development of Africa and to increasing their businesses’ and institutions’ competitiveness in this global economy. These three dedicated tracks are:

(1) Governance and Public Management;
(2) Business and entrepreneurship; and
(3) Social entrepreneurship and civic engagement.

As part of this effort, USAID is supporting the creation of several Regional Leadership Centers (RLC) in key locations across the African continent, including in Dakar, Senegal. Beginning in 2015, these Centers will improve the availability and quality of leadership training programs and professional development opportunities for young African leaders. Each will be run as a public-private partnership, capitalizing on the energy and dynamism of the private sector, the knowledge of African and American institutions, and the programmatic and educational resources of the U.S. Government. The Centers will focus on engaging young leaders from a wide range of organizations and backgrounds and with a diversity of experiences. The Regional Leadership Centers will:

- Provide Quality Leadership Training: Centers will provide both long and short courses on leadership and issues across multiple sectors.

- Support Entrepreneurship: Centers will provide entrepreneurship support services, including mentoring, technology, and access to incubation centers.

- Enhance Professional Networking: Centers will offer young leaders the opportunity to connect with each other, American professionals, and experts from across the region.

The RLC in Senegal will serve as a leadership training and networking hub for mainly Francophone clientele in West Africa. It will gradually expand and offer similar opportunities to up to 15 other West African countries through the opening of subsidiary RLC offices in capitals in participating countries.
BASIC FUNCTION OF POSITION

The USAID YALI/RLC Program Manager is a member of USAID/Senegal’s Democracy and Governance (DGO), and works in close coordination with the YALI Regional Coordinator based in Accra, Ghana. Responsibilities involve working together with the Consortium to start-up, improve, and expand the Dakar-based RLC and coordinating closely with the YALI Regional Coordinator and Washington-based counterparts to ensure that the President’s vision is effectively implemented and successful. Responsibilities will also include assisting the RLC Consortium members to encourage and build robust private sector engagement in the RLC as a means to ensure local ownership and sustainability. A primary responsibility of the YALI/RLC Program Manager is the management (Activity Manager or Agreement Officer’s Representative [AOR]) of this award with a total estimated value of $15-20 million, depending upon the availability of funds.
