The incumbent assists the S/EXO in planning, directing and administering the full range of personnel services provided to the Mission with a special focus on position management, position classification and recruitment. The Specialist will be directly supervised by one of the three Human Resources Specialists to get day to day guidance.

2) Statement of Duties to be Performed:

In coordination with the S/EXO, the incumbent performs the following duties and responsibilities:

1. Classification and Position Management of CCNPSC Positions:

The incumbent provides management support with insight in establishing organizational structures that are efficient, cost effective, supports the desired grade levels, and facilitates career development for the Mission’s CCNPSC staff. While working closely with the assigned Regional Human Resources Servicing Unit (HRSU) and under the day-to-day guidance of the Human Resources Specialist responsible for the CCNPSC portfolio; the incumbent manages and supervises reclassification of the backlogged positions, last classified prior to 2014, which are approximately 50% (117) of the total CCNPSC positions, currently approved in the Mission Staffing Pattern. The OM/EXO expects to reclassify these positions in 2019 & 2020 in accordance with HR Section’s preparation for the inclusion of USAID/Afghanistan into the Department of State mandated Overseas Personal System (OPS), scheduled for 2020. As part of the exercise, the incumbent is expected to perform and complete pre-deployment data cleanup and validation efforts, currently underway to clean and rectify all data available in MCLASS.

The Specialist provides guidance to supervisors and hiring managers on the preparation of CCNPSC position descriptions, ensuring they are accurate and up-to-date; reviews classification/re-classification requests submitted to EXO/HR, making recommendations on a course of action to be taken; prepares and conducts supervisory discussions and desk audits to verify duties and assignments, and to gain an understanding of the job, recommends approximate grade level and official position title, and advises supervisors and employees of classification results, and appeal procedures, if required. The Specialist communicates grade distinctions to management with supporting criteria and justification, provides recommendations to management on organizational design with emphasis on career development principles and practices that relates position classification to the management process and other HR programs. The Specialist provides advice on recommended recruitment processes, including the construction of job announcements; guidance on determining the area of consideration; proper handling of overqualified candidates and/or candidates with excessive current salaries; recommending criteria for selection panel composition, interview questions, preparation of memoranda of negotiation; etc.

The Specialist works closely with the office directors and/or their designees to complete the classification packages, ensuring inclusion of all mandatory documents and forms for submission to the HRSU. The incumbent works one-on-one with office directors to draft accurate and up to date position descriptions, and provide guidance on Job Discussion Help Sheets (JDHS) and corresponding classification packages. The Specialist creates Mission Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and guidelines for evaluation factors for all classification actions at the Mission. The Specialist provides the required initial support, troubleshooting, and training of HR staff for the initial months of implementation. The Specialist is expected to create standard position descriptions for all grade levels and qualification criteria within the Acendre electronic recruitment system, and ensure automated screening factors are aligned with Mission needs and procedures. These efforts will functionally reduce the workload associated with screening and recruitment and quantifiably improve the time necessary to recruit and bring onboard new staff. The Specialist will also train and oversee designated HR staff as full user of the system ensuring the office is fully backstopped in all electronic recruitment software applications. Until such time that Acendre is up and running, the Specialist supports the recruitment team in manually short-listing the applications received for the CCNPSC positions.
