

U.S. Humanitarian Response to Tigray Conflict

On November 4, 2020, fighting broke out in the Tigray Region of Ethiopia between the Tigrayan People's Liberation Front and Ethiopian National Defense Forces. Hundreds of thousands have fled from their homes and more than 4.5 million people are in need of assistance. On March 1, USAID deployed a Disaster Assistance Response Team (DART) to lead the U.S. government's humanitarian response.

Nearly $305 million in humanitarian assistance to help people affected by the conflict.

Humanitarian Access

The U.S. continues to call on all parties to allow humanitarians full and unhindered access to reach people in need. There are still approximately 1 million people who remain cut off from assistance. Humanitarian needs in Tigray are vast:

- 4.5 million people need aid
- 4 million people require food assistance
- An estimated 1 million people fled their homes
- Only 30% of hospitals & health centers are fully functional
